ONE provided free transportation of educational materials for South African children

In June 2021, ONE Japan transported educational material for children (mainly used English books, math sets, soccer balls) free of charge to support the non-profit organization "Together with Africa and Asia Association" (hereinafter TAAA <Note 1>).

ONE Japan loaded educational materials for children in one container '20FT dry' and transported them from Yokohama Port to Durban Port in South Africa on April 25th on the vessel "ALLEGORIA". The container arrived at the local TAAA South Africa office on June 18th, and many English books and materials were delivered to schools in remote area of South Africa by TAAA staff.

This special shipment is a social contribution activity under the ambit of ONE's CSR initiative. ONE will continue to stay committed to going beyond business and reaching out to society with compassion during this unprecedented COVID-19 crisis.

According to TAAA, many rural schools in South Africa have been severally affected by COVID-19 pandemic, restricting the number of school days and many students have stopped attending school. Moreover, even if the students go to school, the teachers are sometimes absent, so classes cannot be held and the confusion continues.

Under such circumstances, ONE has been able to provide an environment where South African children can study and read books through the free transportation of educational materials.

This cooperation has led to emergency education support through the COVID-19 pandemic. ONE would like to continue to engage in social contribution activities further by utilizing its global network.

<Note1>

- Specified non-profit organization "Together with Africa and Asia Association (TAAA)"
- An organization that provides comprehensive school education support in poor areas of Africa and Asia.
